Standing Out Above the Rest

Almost always, for one particular job, there are a hundred applicants. So, what can get you noticed? How can you stand out from the rest? Here are some tips to get you ahead of the race:

1. Identify yourself and send a strong message. You must differentiate yourself from others. Your skills and accomplishments should be the highlight of your resume.
2. Always be prepared. One who is unprepared never wins the battle. The interview is your battlefield, and the weapons are your tough and smart answers.
3. Look the part. Attire and grooming should always be a priority. Dress appropriately and neatly.
4. Never criticize. Don't bad mouth past employers. It can give a wrong impression that you are bitter and disrespectful.
5. Don't surrender. Giving up is never an option. Life moves on after a fall. Always take chances.
